The Bastrop ISD Health Clinic offers telehealth appointments!

Primary care providers may offer acute care visits via telehealth, dependent upon the symptoms of the patient and the clinical judgment of the provider. Most follow-up visits are offered through telehealth, including ongoing ADHD medication management.

Behavioral health services, including counseling, psychiatric evaluations, consultations and care coordination, are available by televideo when requested by the family or guardian.

Services that are not being offered through virtual means include first visits to establish care, sport physicals and well child exams.

Self-Care Tip

The Self-Care tip for this month might sound easy at first, but for many people it can be challenging. For November, give yourself permission to eat something delicious simply because it's delicious and eating it brings you joy. That's the easy part. The challenge comes in eating that special treat without beating yourself up or feeling guilty about it. It could be your favorite dessert that only comes around at Thanksgiving or a savory dish that takes a little extra time to prepare. Whatever it is, take the time to mindfully enjoy each bite.

What are Students Learning?

Elementary students will dive into learning about empathy, while Intermediate and Middle School students will begin learning about ways to identify and cope with difficult emotions. High School students will begin to learn about values and reflect on what their own values are. Families looking to engage their students around these topics can ask questions like:

- What are you learning during SEL time this week?
- What is one way you can demonstrate empathy to someone having a rough day?
- What are some things you value? How do your values inform your decision making?
For Parents of Students in Special Education

TX Parents: If your student is served by special education, your family may qualify for a one-time $1,500 Supplemental Special Education Services (SSES) grant.

This is on a first come, first served basis. Families can start applying on November 1: SSES.TEA.TEXAS.GOV.
